GPS - Global Physics Storytelling (Italian Edition) Andrea Bosio

Quel che sappiamo della fisica del XX° secolo dipende in larga misura da ciò che i fisici più famosi - Einstein, Schrödinger, Hawking - hanno raccontato: raramente come in questi anni la divulgazione della scienza è stata importante della società. Da dove arriva questo ruolo preminente? Qual è stato il cammino compiuto nel secolo scorso dal racconto della fisica e come ha influenzato la società e le altre scienze? Come, ancora oggi, le scelte nella comunicazione di questi grandi fisici modellano il nostro modo di intendere la scienza, il nostro approccio a essa e le nostre decisioni?

A queste e a molte altre domande prova a rispondere Andrea Bosio, storico savonese che si avventura nel dedalo della fisica contemporanea, conducendo il lettore in un viaggio di curiosità e meraviglia, ma anche di analisi sociale e storica della fisica, della scienza e della divulgazione degli ultimi cento anni.
